

R. Runyon

WHO

Do you want to get a little happy
Do you want to laugh and sing
Do you want to face tomorrow
With the joy the sun can bring
Open your eyes and look out the window
Take a deep breath and go on out
Smile upon the day that your given
Go out and see what it's all about

Bugs in my teeth I ain't got no windshield
Sometimes the wind cuts close to the bone
I don't care if you won't go with me
I'm prepared to go it alone
I've just got to see what's never been spoken
I've just got to hear what's never been shown
I've got to know what can't be acknowledged
I've got to see where the little birds flown

Who can claim to know what a dog nose knows when a dog nose takes a whiff
Who can claim to see what an eagle sees before it dives for a fish
Who can go without ever going
Who can stay while on the move
Who can keep the fire of love glowing
Who can stay within the groove

Who can do the thing that I'm asking
Who can do what's never been done
Who can find his prey without tracking
Who can burn and shine like the sun

Do you want to take my word for it
Do you want to know for yourself
Do you want to see where it takes you
Do you want to rot on the shelf
Change is a thing that can always outrun you
Leave you where you've never been
All of your plans and dreams are outdated
When you get where you don't know when

Now is the time that you have been given
Now is the time when you must learn
Strait is the way and narrow the gate
To get around this treacherous turn
Slide on your face without ever knowing
Paradise is in your hand
Alone in a sphere of desire burning
For the things you don't understand

Who can do the thing that I'm asking
Who can do what's never been done
Who can find his prey without tracking
Who can burn and shine like the sun